

"What's Typical? What's a Concern? – Exploring Social Emotional Development in Infants & Toddlers"

Resources Handout:

FREE Professional Development Opportunity; Ages & Stages Questionnaire – Social Emotional – 2nd Edition (ASQ-SE-2) Screening Tool – VCU's Partnership for People with Disabilities website offers a free training on the ASQ-SE-2. An in depth look at understanding the tool, scoring and communicating screening results is covered in this training. Certificate of training is also available.

- ASQ-SE-2 – Free Professional Development – <https://ecmhva.partnership.vcu.edu/>

Ages & Stages Questionnaire Resource Library – Hundreds of tip sheets, infographics, parent handouts, and articles to enhance social emotional development of young children. Webinars are available for professionals on diverse topics that promote positive engagement with families. Resources are often available in other languages.

"What's Typical? What's a Concern? – Exploring Social Emotional Development in Infants & Toddlers"

Resources Handout:

- ASQ Resource Library - <https://agesandstages.com/free-resources/resources/>

Center for Disease Control and Prevention Developmental Milestones – The CDC's website is full of helpful tips and information for families and professionals focused on developmental milestones from 2 months – 5 years. Books, handouts, milestones checklists, tips for concerns, plus videos and so much more provide up-to-date research-based tools which are quick and easy to use. They also have a "Milestone Tracker App" in which families can download and receive helpful information for tracking development while engaging with their children. Resources are often available in different languages. Explore all the have to offer by going to the link below:

- CDC's Dev. Milestones - <https://www.cdc.gov/act-early/milestones/>

Early Learning & Development Standards (ELDS) – Provides guidelines for the skills and knowledge children need to demonstrate by the end of preschool in assist with being successful as they move into kindergarten. The standards are intended to help caregivers understand the basics of child development, implement effective activities, and engage in high-quality interactions with young children. One of the domains focus on social emotional development.

- VA-ELDS Document - <https://va-itsnetwork.org/wp-content/uploads/2022/05/Virginias-Early-Learning-and-Development-Standards-ELDS.pdf>

Early Learning & Development Standards Webinars – Early care and education settings are social places where children begin to develop ideas about themselves and how they relate to other children and adults. Social and emotional skills allow children to successfully participate in the learning environment and set a strong foundation for developing positive relationships with others. This free webinar helps you learn how you can foster these critical skills in positive, caring, and responsive ways.

"What's Typical? What's a Concern? – Exploring Social Emotional Development in Infants & Toddlers"

Resources Handout:

- ELDS – Social Emotional Webinar - https://eceresourcehub.org/ece-resource-hub/webinars/webinar02_february/

National Center for Pyramid Model Innovations (NCPMI) – NCPMI provides wealth of resources for professionals and families, with the goal of promoting the positive social, emotional, and behavioral outcomes of young children (birth through five), reducing the use of inappropriate discipline practices, increasing the inclusion and ongoing participation of young children with disabilities in early childhood settings, and the promotion of family engagement. Webinars are available for professionals on diverse topics that promote positive engagement with families. Many resources are available in different languages. You can search their wide selection of resources by clicking links below:

- NCPMI Resources: <https://challengingbehavior.org/resources/>
- NCPMI Family Engagement: <https://challengingbehavior.org/implementation/family-engagement/>

The ECE Resource Hub – Take Home Strategies: An online resource library that contains strategies that family members and other caregivers can use to foster children's development at home, to include social emotional development. Resources in various formats help families engage in activities that enhance learning and development from infancy to preschool. Activities can be adapted to support every child's development and fit within their family's routines, values, culture, and preferences. Click on links below based on developmental area of focus.

"What's Typical? What's a Concern? – Exploring Social Emotional Development in Infants & Toddlers"

Resources Handout:

ECE Resource Hub-Behavioral Support: <https://eceresourcehub.org/take-home-strategies/take-home-supporting-behaviors-at-home/>

Vroom – Science-based, fun, and easy, brain building tips families can do with their children in just minutes a day. Families can sign-up to receive easy to understand text messages daily with tips that build brain and connections (no download of app required to receive free text messages). Online, they have a vast variety of helpful resources for both professionals and families, many of which are available in different languages.

- Vroom - <https://www.vroom.org/tools-and-resources>

